

Statutory declaration for evidencing on the job electrical fitter experience for an unrestricted licence SD-02

Note: This statutory declaration is to be completed by the worker's employer or supervisor.

The Electrical Safety Regulator is responsible for issuing electrical licences to suitably trained and competent persons to carry out electrical work.

The holder of an unrestricted electrical work licence must be able to, without supervision, carry out electrical work compliant with the Australian Standard AS3000 and relevant legislation. To this end the Regulator requires an applicant to have evidence of having achieved both the underpinning knowledge and workplace competency.

The underpinning academic knowledge is evidenced by the Registered Training Organisation. This form is to enable the employer/supervisor to evidence the worker's experience of on-the-job tasks.

It is not mandatory that experience has been achieved in all types of installations or that all work tasks have been achieved. The information is to demonstrate the breadth of experience gained in the trade work of an electrical fitter.

The provision of a statutory declaration from the applicant's employer or supervisor detailing the applicant's areas of work is a method of evidencing skills maintenance, acceptable to the Regulator. The statutory declaration attached to this page, is to be used.

The employer or supervisor should list the type and quantity of electrical fitter work performed by the applicant over at least a 12 months period during their apprenticeship. Should the applicant have carried out electrical fitter work for other employers' then statutory declarations from them detailing the work would need to be lodged as well. An audit of the listed experience may also be performed if there is any doubt as to the veracity of the evidence provided or the continued skills maintenance or competency of the applicant.

Please attach separate additional pages, if required. The person making the declaration and the witness are required to sign any additional attachments. Please clearly refer to attachments in the made declaration, should you use them.

The experience declared will be assessed and an audit may be performed if there is any doubt to its validity.
